

Development Philosophy

Development is the main concern of all economist.

But, differences are found between political-economist.

State ownership is the philosophy of all socialist.

Whatever you do, get your share according to socialistic analyst.

Your share according to contribution is philosophy of communist.

Survival of the fittest is the principle of capitalist.

Bureaucrats behave as if they are fundamentalist.

Open minded planner can play a role of catalyst.

Under state ownership, productivity in all sector get demolished.

So, Russia and East German got away from Marxist.

Economists are advocating as the development specialist.

Fundamentalists are constraint to develop as reported by journalist.

The success of market economy is recognized by columnist.

Let us not further talk about communist or socialist.

It is better to control the bureaucratic fundamentalist.

To maximize output let us try to be democratic.

So, we reach the above goal under market economy of capitalist.

Prof. Dr. M. Azizur Rahman
Vice-Chancellor
Uttara University